

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

25 DEGREES (Part II)

Philadelphia, PA – On Friday, June 14th, from 7PM to 10PM, the next in a series of hip and eclectic active workshops will be held at CRED Philly's gallery/store venue: OnSite. It's "25 DEGREES (Part II)"!

This free event stands as an Open Call to creative young Philadelphia; poets, visual artists, singers, small businesses, and more. There will be live performances by students from various area high schools and independent education programs, as well as an Open Mic segment, a group wall art station, and free food and beverages will be served.

---

"An Open Call to Creative Young Philadelphia"

---

This series provides creative young adults with a platform to express their talents, an environment conducive to professionally and psychologically beneficial peer-to-peer networking, and a team of seasoned older professionals to advise, mentor, and this powerful next generation.

Primary presentations will be provided by the students of EducationWorks citywide programming, coordinated by educators Margel Overton (@theSophant of Sëla) and Joseph Brand. Other youth presentations will be provided by the students of programs at The New Freedom Theater, coordinated by teaching artist Michael O'Bryan, and students of the CAPA high school poetry slam team, coordinated by Mj Harris (Mike King of Sëla).

Aside from those who are aged 25 & under, creative minds of all ages are summoned to attend and celebrate the drive of a generation. Older guests may come to scout interns, skillful workers, or to offer advice, learn from, or merely observe younger creatives.

FOR MORE INFORMATION PLEASE CONTACT: S.Frosty of SFX

SFrosty215@gmail.com | @SFrosty215 | www.facebook.com/SFXpage